M.G. Road traffic chaos continues

DC Dr. K.V. Rajendra to hold meeting of stakeholders, MLAs, Officers & Police after June 4

Mysuru, June 1 (MK&BS)- On one hand, the officers take pain to ensure smooth traffic flow, but on the other hand, the farmers, middlemen and vegetable vendors blatantly flout all the norms, holding busy traffic to ransom.

This is the sorry state of affairs on a stretch of M.G. Road near the vegetable market, where one can witness the hustle-bustle throughout the day, with the farmers bringing their produces in goods vehicles and the buyers, especially the middlemen, wholesale merchants, retailers and the common people, thronging the market.

The haphazard parking of vehicles and the make-shift vendors, occupying either side of the road to sell their produces from vegetables to fruits, leaves and other farm produces, make it a risky ride for the vehicle users to navigate through the busy stretch. The pedestrians shall be risking their lives, with the vehicle riders, manoeuvring according to their whims and fancies, taking U-turn, with even the road median reduced to the level of the road, due to lack of regular maintenance.

The common scene witnessed on M.G. Road in city on a daily basis.

This very road connects Vani Vilas Road from Agrahara Circle and winds towards Mall of Mysore junction. JSS Hospital is also located on the same stretch and imagine the volume of traffic, with commercial establishments dotting the part of the road.

A few days ago, officials led by Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. K.V. Rajendra, accompanied by City Police Commissioner B. Ramesh, had inspected the M.G. Road vegetable market junction after the road underbridge, the epicentre of the traffic snarl. They had also advised the vendors at the market to abide by the traffic rules. But now, it is back to square one, with unruly vendors, flouting all the norms.

Deputy Commissioner Dr. Rajendra said: "It has come to my notice that there are several civil disputes related to M.G. Road market. Hence, soon after the Lok Sabha election results (June 4), a meeting of stakeholders of the market along with local MLAs, leaders, Chairman of Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA), Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) and Police Officers, will be convened to arrive on a suitable decision."

"We will ponder over allotting a suitable place either at KEA grounds or any private land, for the farmers and vendors to carry out their business. Besides, it has also come to notice that, the traffic related norms are being violated and instructions will be given to install barricades on the divider and prohibit haphazard parking of vehicles," he said.

LIBERATION AND CONSCIOUSNESS: Consciousness is one. And, the same consciousness which (or who/what) is one is many also. And there is no contradiction in both the preceding sentences. For example, if sky were looking at all the planets which dot its expanse, it would see those all within itself as an inseparable part of itself. But, suppose, various planets were looking at themselves and other planets and the sky from their comparatively limited vision of their being respectively those planets which they are then, they would see many of them scattered and located in the sky. And, looking from the eye of sky they would judiciously be counted/seen and realised as sky itself, because that's what they will become after dissolution once their span of being is over, therefore only one. So are they many or one?

One may ask, whose gaze is decisive? Whose gaze is truly true? Whose gaze is factually true? Is there a contradiction here? Is that which is factual is not true? And, that which is true is that not factual? Looking from the finer point (state of subatomic particles) all would appear as made of same stuff or structure; to be more precise. But, as soon as we leave subtlety and see from a grosser level of the consciousness, multiplicity begins to manifest. Though this spectacle of seeing many in one and, one in many becomes experience-worthy and is realised only when we transcend beyond the world of dualities. Yet, Indic wisdom has been practicing the manifestation of transcendence since ages through eternal guru-shishya relationship.

Since this period of 'existing' is so vast that it renders itself immeasurable to the ones who hasn't experienced the transcendence. Measuring time in the transcendental state is not accomplished in terms of span, or duration but in terms of clarity, intensity and stability of Inner Peace. We call it inner peace in common parlance because the experience is at the individual level. And, words like inner and outer make sense to us as individuals in the beginning phase of saadhanaa. In reality, peace is omnipresent without any division or separation. As we ascend in saadhanaa we come to realise various levels of consciousness. Manifestation of these various levels keep transforming us. We begin to feel free and responsible. As our degree of freedom advances we realise in-dependence. Once one begins to make decisions and exercise choices one keeps becoming worthy of salvation. What about the liberation? —Nandkishore in Deccan Herald

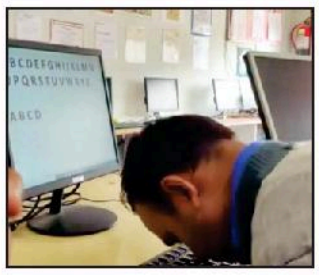
Meteorite-infused vodka at 200 dollars

New York: French distillery Pegasus decided to celebrate its debut on the US spirits market with a unique product – an ultra-premium vodka infused with a real meteorite.

The aptly named Shooting Star Vodka starts off as organic, locally sourced wheat and botanicals from France distilled using iStill, the most advanced distilling technology. The mixture is then slowly reduced over a month-long period using pure spring water from a well dug 150 meters below the Pegasus Distillery in Burgundy. But what really sets Shooting Star Vodka apart from other premium spirits is the aging process. Shooting Star Vodka is aged in small batches for at least one year using large terracotta jars with pieces of meteorite suspended in the middle. As the space rock partially dissolves into the vodka, it allegedly gives the spirit a mineral taste.

Only 4,806 bottles of Shooting Star Vodka have been made by Pegasus, each of which will be sold for 180 to 200 dollars.

Man breaks his record for typing with nose!



New Delhi: An Indian man broke his own Guinness World Record by typing the alphabet in 25.66 seconds using only a keyboard and his nose.

Vinod Kumar Chaudhary, 44, first set the Guinness World Record for the fastest time to type the alphabet with the nose in 2023, when he logged a time of 27.8 seconds and he broke the record again later in the year with a time of 26.73 seconds.

Chaudhary has now broken the record a second time, managing the feat in 25.66 seconds. The rules required Chaudhary to type all 26 letters of the Roman alphabet on a standard QWERTY keyboard with a space between each letter.

VOICE OF THE READER

Why this apathy and lack of pride in our heritage?

Sir,

According to Prof. N.S. Rangaraju, a member of the District Heritage Committee, out of 129 heritage structures, 50 to 60 structures need urgent restoration ('11 heritage buildings listed for urgent repairs' in SOM dated May 25).

However, only 11 heritage buildings have been identified for urgent repairs at an estimated cost of Rs. 96,80,59,838 and the list has been forwarded to Deputy Commissioner to seek funds from State Government.

Notably, the list of 11 buildings does not include the Devaraja Market and Lansdowne buildings, which have been pending for more than a decade.

The Government appears indecisive about whether to demolish or restore these two buildings, showcasing a typical attitude of shirking responsibility or playing it safe. Since the estimated cost for the 11 heritage buildings was determined by a private agency, it must undergo scrutiny to ensure compliance with all specified norms. A committee needs to be formed to evaluate the estimate and make necessary changes if required before final approval. It remains unclear whether tenders were invited or if the work was directly assigned to a reputed firm.

However, given the current circumstances, there are doubts about the availability of funds. In case of fund crunch, a decision must be made to prioritise among these 11 structures. It is essential to remember that the estimated cost is subject to change, potentially increasing substantially. Consequently, the fate of other heritage buildings remains uncertain.

Prajwal Revanna sent to SIT custody until June 6

Bengaluru, June 1 (Agencies)- The 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Court handed over custody of MP Prajwal Revanna, who is accused of rape, to a Karnataka Police Special Investigation Team (SIT) on Friday until June 6.

Prajwal

The conditions stipulate that he can meet his lawyers between 9.30 am and 11.30 am while he is in Bengaluru, but not when the SIT takes him out of the city for investigation-related work.

Prajwal Revanna, 33, the JD(S) MP from Hassan, was taken into custody at Kempegowda International Airport in Bengaluru after arriving on a Lufthansa flight from Munich in the early hours of Friday. He had left the country on Apr. 27, a day after his Lok Sabha Constituency went to the polls, as videos allegedly showing him involved in sexual assault began circulating publicly.

On Friday morning, Prajwal underwent a medical examination at Bowring Hospital before being presented at the Special Court for People's Representatives.

The SIT, investigating three cases of sexual assault against the MP, filed a remand application for 15 days of custody in the first case, registered on Apr. 28. This case was based on a complaint filed by a former domestic worker at the Revanna's family residence.

In a packed Courtroom, the Judge at the Special Court for People's Representatives in Bengaluru read out the orders around 4:30 pm. The SIT argued that it needed custody of Prajwal to collect evidence and recreate crime scenes at locations where the alleged sexual assaults took place.

Prajwal's counsel argued that the complaint, filed four years after the alleged incident, was not filed voluntarily by the complainant and that charges of rape were not included in the original complaint but were added subsequently. The Special Court ruled that issues like the addition of the rape charge would have to be contested at the stage of the trial and allowed the SIT to take Prajwal into custody until June 6.

Court denies anticipatory bail to Bhavani Revanna

Bengaluru, June 1 (Agencies)- The Special Court for People's Representatives denied anticipatory bail to Prajwal's mother, Bhavani Revanna yesterday. She had been issued a notice to appear before the SIT for questioning on June 1 (today).

Bhavani

Bhavani is also an accused in the kidnapping case registered by the son of a victim of sexual assault at the K.R. Nagar police station in Mysuru district.

Referring to the statements of the victim, her sister and witnesses produced by the prosecution to corroborate Bhavani's specific overt role, Judge Santhosh Gajanan Bhat of the Special Court for People's Representatives said the prosecution made out a prima facie case in which Bhavani is not entitled for anticipatory bail.

Referring to the materials produced by Special Public Prosecutor (SPP) B.N. Jagadeesha, the Court noted that the victim had run away from the farmhouse of accused No. 7, Rajagopal, where she was confined and threatened with death or grievous hurt to her son. This indicated that the victim was abducted and kept under detention, the Court said.

The accused, Satish Babanna, took the victim, saying 'Revanna Sahebru' was calling but instead reached Bhavani's house in K.R. Nagar, where Bhavani hurled abuses at the victim and asked Satish to take her to a secluded place. The victim stated to the Magistrate under Section 164 of CrPC that she was detained at the farmhouse, it added.

The materials also disclosed that Satish took away the victim's mobile phone and disposed it at Bhavani's behest. The prosecution has invoked Section 120-B of IPC (conspiracy), which would be considered circumstantial evidence and has made out a strong prima facie case, it said.

LS: BJP workers pray for Modi, Yaduveer's victory

Mysuru, June 1 (BLU&VNS) - With just three days left for the counting for votes to constitute the 18th Lok Sabha (LS) for which the polling concluded today, the BJP workers in city offered special pujas at Sri Karyasiddhi Veeranjaneya Swamy Temple, near Gun House, praying for victory of BJP, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Mysuru-Kodagu NDA candidate Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, this morning.

The party workers held the portraits of PM Modi, former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa, BJP State President B.Y. Vijayendra and Yaduveer Wadiyar while the temple priest performed the puja rituals.

Later, speaking to the mediapersons, MLA T.S. Srivatsa said the special puja was being organised to pray for the victory of the party, PM Modi and Yaduveer.

"It is important that PM Modi-led BJP returns to power for the welfare of the country. Not only PM Modi, we have also prayed for the victory of Yaduveer Wadiyar from Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha Constituency. While the counting will be held on June 4, we are confident of emerging victorious," he added.

Former Corporators B.V. Manjunath and Parthasarathy, BJP leaders Jogi Manju, Manjunath and others were present on the occasion.

Black Magic & Astrology in Politics

It's a magical time in Karnataka again. We're talking about 'black magic.'

Our Chief Minister Siddaramaiah may have passed a watered-down Anti-Superstition Bill. Maybe he should try again for a more implementable one, for his Deputy says it's threatening their Government.

Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar stated on Thursday that political opponents are performing black magic through 'Aghoris' and 'tantrics' at a temple in Kerala against him and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to destabilise the Congress Government.

Interestingly, the Deputy Chief Minister seemed quite knowledgeable about black magic himself as he listed the names of the rituals and their purposes.

He said the main objective of the 'yagya' is to eliminate enemies, and the ritual is called 'Raja Kantaka' and 'Marana Mohana Stambhana' yagyas.

When there is talk of black magic in Karnataka politics, all fingers point in one direction — Janata Dal (Secular). No, not because they suspect JD(S) leader Prajwal has a black magic wand! But because…

When JD(S) gave up its office in Bengaluru to Congress after a legal battle, the next day, when Congress party workers entered the premises, they found lemon, chilly, vermilion, and unknown materials wrapped in red cloth. They were scared to enter the building until it was 'purified.'

Later, when B.S. Yediyurappa was the CM, he alleged that there was a threat to his life from the JD(S), as it had performed black magic on him!

Black magic is not new in politics. In his book 'Nine Lives', historian William Dalrymple narrates several West Bengal and Bihar politicians worshipped skulls and offered animal sacrifices to the Goddess before standing for election. One of them, he says, explained that "tantra is much more powerful than conventional religion."

It is said that even our Prime Ministers have indulged in black magic. Pupul Jayakar, a close confidante of Indira Gandhi, writes in her book 'Indira Gandhi: A Biography' about how the late Prime Minister believed that people were doing black magic on her and her son Sanjay Gandhi.

To counter this, Pupul Jayakar says Indira Gandhi had performed the 'Lakshachandi Path,' a ritual in which 1,00,000 verses were recited in the Kali Temple of Jhansi. The 'yagna' and the recitation of the verses were conducted in secret from 1979 to 1983!

The tantric who helped was Dhirendra Brahmachari. He was eased out of the Gandhi household after her death.

The other famous tantric with access to the Prime Minister's Office was Chandraswami. He was patronised by the late PM P.V. Narasimha Rao.

The Jain Commission, which was investigating the assassination of Rajiv Gandhi, as part of its questioning, asked Chandraswami, "Had he used yagya (sacrificial rites) to help Rao become Prime Minister."

In 2009, before the General Elections, Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh accused BJP's L.K. Advani of resorting to black magic and approaching tantrics to come to power.

It's not just politicians. We, ordinary citizens, do it too, indulge in black magic.

Once every month, vehicular traffic near the junction where three roads meet goes into traffic confusion; why?

People on 'Amavasya', the 'new moon' day, crack coconuts, break eggs, crush lemons, place big rocks and other black magic paraphernalia at the junction. It's a mean ritual meant to pass on their bad luck to whoever passes over it.

Superstitions, astrology and black magic have been part of Indian politics since the day we gained independence. In fact, our Independence Day got us into trouble because of astrology.

Louis Mountbatten, the last Viceroy of India, chose August 15 as Independence Day because it was the day the Japanese surrendered Burma to the Allied Forces under his command. But India's astrologers found August 15 to be a deeply inauspicious day.

In the book 'Freedom at Midnight', it states that one astrologer, Swamin Madamanand, wrote to Mountbatten, saying, "For the love of God, do not give India independence on August 15. If floods, famine, and massacres follow, it will be because free India was born on a day cursed by the stars."

Finally, as a compromise, India was granted independence between August 14 and 15 at midnight because, for the West, a new day begins at midnight, but according to the Hindu calendar, it begins at sunrise.

One wonders if this compromise is the reason why India is perpetually in limbo — never developed but forever developing. It's not too bad a country, but not very good either. It's in limbo.

This tradition of astrology continues today in all facets of our lives. India has a deep, academic, and complex tradition of astrology.

As for black magic, well, while our politicians pursue it for power, the animals pay the price.

D.K. Shivakumar on Thursday said that through the Aghoris, 21 red goats, three buffaloes, 21 black sheep and five pigs are being sacrificed for black magic!

We hope Siddaramaiah will reintroduce an implementable Anti-Superstition Bill. Maybe he should consult an astrologer to ensure its effectiveness.

Rs. 187 crore scam in Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd.

BJP leader R. Raghu demands white paper on financial status of Boards and Corporations

R. Raghu

Mysuru, June 1 (BCT)- BJP OBC Morcha State President R. Raghu Kautilya has demanded that the Congress State Government immediately issue a white paper on the financial status of various Corporations and Boards following a massive scam in which Rs. 187 crore was misappropriated in Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Limited.

The misuse of funds from the Valmiki Development Corporation occurred due to the Finance Department turning a blind eye. If the Government urgently publishes the details of the bank accounts of these Corporations and Boards, more scams are likely to be exposed. —R. Raghu Kautilya

He criticised the Government for draining its coffers to implement vote bank-based schemes while sidelining development works. Raghu highlighted that the misappropriation of funds from Government Corporations to rig elections in favour of Congress has come to light through the Valmiki Corporation case.

"The accounts of the Ambedkar Development Corporation, Karnataka Adi Jambava Development Corporation, D. Devaraj Urs Backward Classes Development Corporation, and other backward classes development Corporations and Boards receiving Government grants are yet to be verified," Raghu Kautilya said.

He emphasised that the scam in the Valmiki Development Corporation came to light after the suicide of the Corporation's Accounts Superintendent Chandrasekaran, raising the possibility of similar cases of misappropriation in other Corporations.

Raghu Kautilya insisted that the State Government must provide transparent information on financial management by issuing a white paper on the financial status of all Corporations and grant-in-aid Boards immediately.

"Having served as the Chairman of the D. Devaraj Urs Backward Classes Development Corporation, I learned that after Government grants are released to Corporations, the unutilised funds and the reimbursements by beneficiaries who had availed loan assistance are deposited in the Corporation's accounts. I am aware that thousands of crores of rupees are deposited in the accounts of many Corporations," Raghu Kautilya stated.

He observed that the Finance Department has been strategic in regulating and providing information about these deposits.

"In this context, the misuse of funds from the Valmiki Development Corporation occurred due to the Finance Department turning a blind eye. If the Government urgently publishes the details of the bank accounts of these Corporations and Boards, more scams are likely to be exposed," he added.

BJP demands resignation of Minister B. Nagendra

Mysuru, June 1 (MTY&DM)- Accusing Minister of Youth Empowerment, Sports and ST Welfare B. Nagendra of being involved in the Rs. 94.73 crore scam unearthed in Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation, Mysuru City Unit of the BJP staged a demonstration in front of the new Deputy Commissioner's Office on Bannur Road here this morning, seeking immediate resignation or sacking of the Minister.

Alleging that Rs. 94.73 crore of the Corporation was transferred to nearly 15 fictitious accounts in the name of reputed organisations and tech companies that were opened in haste for carrying out fraudulent transactions, with some of them on a single day, BJP workers held Minister Nagendra directly responsible for the scam.

Charging that the Minister had rendered grave injustice to Scheduled Tribes, they demanded the sacking of the Minister and also his arrest as the scam has taken place right under his nose. They also sought justice for the Corporation official P. Chandrashekaran, who reportedly ended his life after he mentioned about misuse of funds in the Corporation.

Urging the Government to hand over the investigation into the scam to CBI, they warned of intensifying their protest if the CM fails to sack Minister Nagendra.

MLA T.S. Srivatsa, ex-MLC Siddaraju, ex-Corporator B.V. Manjunath and others were present.

Five days in the next six will be dry days

On June 3, there will be a window of opening from 4 pm to the regular closing time at 10.30 pm. On June 4, all liquor outlets will be closed in the entire Mysuru city up to a radius of 5 kms for Lok Sabha elections' vote counting.

Stores can open on June 5, but they will have to close again on June 6 (Mysuru city up to a radius of 3 kms) for the Legislative Council election vote counting.

The orders have been issued as per the Representation of the People Act, 1951, which mandates prohibition on the sale and consumption of alcohol at least 48 hours before polls. Production, sale, distribution, transportation, and storage of liquor will be banned on the above-mentioned dates. The order applies to all places serving alcohol.

Meanwhile, several restaurants and pub owners in Bengaluru have filed a petition in the Karnataka High Court seeking a partial revocation of the ban. "We are asking for the ban to be lifted on weekends, and also for sales to be allowed after 6 pm on vote counting days," said Chethan Hegde, Bengaluru Chapter Head of the National Restaurant Association of India.

Restaurants and bars are concerned that approximately 20 percent of their business will be affected during the ICC T20 tournament that will begin tomorrow.

How to reverse ageing and prolong life? -1

Formula: Diet-exercise-fasting

Man has always been worried and concerned about ageing and death. His longing to be immortal is as old as the time of Adam and Manu.

Normally ageing precedes death, except in cases of natal death. Hence, man hopes that if ageing is reversed his longevity can be prolonged. But die he must. He will not be able to join the ranks of immortal Gods. That is the law of nature, like the law of gravity. Man can't defy it — monarch or monk. Neither medical science nor prayers suggest success of man in attaining these two aspirations for million of years.

Which is why a poet remarked that the secret of nature, like love, is only half revealed. May be God, whom we believe to be Almighty, himself is powerless when it comes to making man immortal!

But man's ingenuity will not dismiss this phenomenon saying 'grapes are sour.' No. He has invented soul with so many nuanced attributes. In Sanskrit it is called Atman. It is embodied in man's body, so we believe in 'body, mind and soul.' Body will die, along with it the mind (brain) but not the soul, Atma, the Prana Vayu, life breath, Jivatma, which does not die. Rather it escapes, like a prisoner from the jail, to the divine realm where immortal Gods live and becomes immortal! Which is why Bhagavad Gita says: Weapons cleave This not; fire burns This not; and water wets This not; wind dries This not.

Now O, man. This as such, thou should not grieve.

Therefore, man is concerned with ageing and prolonging this mundane life, not as much about Atman. After Death of this physical body, Atman remains immortal !

Kahlil Gibran too speaks similar language when he says that the river (here man) needs to take the risk of entering the ocean. In its disappearing (death) into the ocean the river (man) becomes the ocean, eternal (immortal).

Dr. C.D. Sreenivasa Murthy delivering a talk.

Let this hocus-pocus be as it may. Let me now introduce you to a wonderful talk on 'Ageing and Longevity — Understanding the Science and its Implications' by our city's well-known Physician Dr. C.D. Sreenivasa Murthy, MD, last Saturday at Kamakshi Hospital, Saraswathipuram, Mysuru.

In simple words, ageing means a process of becoming older. It is defined as a biological, physiological, environmental, psychological, behavioural and social process. In short, ageing is caused due to the genetic order of the body and the surroundings we live in.

In an oration that lasted for over an hour followed by interaction to a small gathering of doctors and para-medics, Dr. CDS, as he is popularly known, covered the vast spectrum of the subject based on David A. Sinclair's book *'Lifespan.' His work on showing the ageing process may lead to significant medical breakthrough, including in dealing with the deadly disease cancer.

No wonder, US President Barack Obama's final State of the Union address in 2016 said it all: "For the loved ones we have all lost, for the family we can still save, let's make America the country that cures cancer once and for all." In India it is ONLY the Tatas who are doing this most humane service. Which is why the Tatas from Jamshedji Nusserwanji Tata, the Founder, to J.R.D. and Ratan Tata are all remembered and cherished. Obama acted on his commitment to 'make America the country that cures cancer' by placing the then Vice-President Joe Biden (now President of America) in-charge of the effort.

The Opposition Republicans, who were the staunch enemies, had "troubles holding back the tears" at such a decision of Obama. Well, can we imagine our Opposition in Parliament having such emotion when Modi makes such announcements? Perish the thought. We have seen the conduct of the Opposition when Modi took on the challenge of the pandemic COVID-19 and even succeeded in producing a vaccine that saved our people and many poor countries in the world.

To some, ageing, getting diseases and meeting death, are natural phenomenon. Therefore, any research work to undo what is natural to a human is unnatural and immoral. If this is the thinking, then exploration of the space and the universe is also a wasteful work. No wonder, as recent as 2003 the US President's Council on Bioethics warned against ageing research affirming that it went against "the human grain" and violates the purportedly orderly cycle of birth, marriage and death.

A question was asked that if our life expectancy is guaranteed at 80 and above at the time of marriage, would one be inclined to swear lifelong fidelity "until death do us part?" This might be the case with those leading a life of unhappy marriage. As for those who are happy with their spouse, it would be another extra 50 or more years of happy marriage !!

Dr. CDS explained at length the three main secrets to slowdown ageing and to increase the longevity — diet, exercise and fasting — with examples from our religious customs and the prescription by David A. Sinclair, the author of the book Lifespan.

He also gave an overview of ageing physiology. When does one discover that he or she is ageing. When a white strand of hair is noticed either on the temples or chin or head. When hair begins to thin making way to turning bald gradually; wrinkles show up in the skin; impaired vision, so on and so forth.

But take solace in the thought that ageing is not a disease and a disease-free longevity is a bonus for one's life.

Incidentally, the oration of Dr. CDS reminded me of what I wrote about old age and long life during the peak period of COVID-19 in July 2021. Let me publish here some excerpts of that Abracadabra titled 'Secret to a long life' even at the risk of inflicting a repetition to my readers.

Kodagu woman at Mount Everest Base Camp

Dr. Latha

Madikeri, June 1 (PS&BCT)- A woman from Kodagu has made history by reaching the Mount Everest Base Camp. Dr. Latha, a 57-year-old gynaecologist working in Bengaluru, participated in the trek to the Everest Base Camp and successfully reached the first phase target of 18,514 feet.

Dr. Latha, a native of Badubanahalli near Alur Siddapura in Somwarpet Taluk, Kodagu, has brought great honour to her region through this remarkable achievement. She is the daughter of the late Mallappa.

With a keen interest in sports and trekking, Dr. Latha had a deep desire to conquer Mount Everest. She underwent rigorous training for six months with a Nepal-based company, running up to 10 kilometres daily and climbing small mountains to build stamina.

Dr. Latha was selected to climb the world's highest peak during the April 28 to May 11 schedule, where several teams from India were participating. Among them, there were eight individuals aged between 30 and 40.

"Every day, we used to climb 10 to 15 kilometres and then rest. Only three members from our team, including me, could reach that Base Camp," she said.
